Japan.

SAIGAKI.

3. S. The following account of whose was published last week, is now less wreck, having broken asunder off the paddle-box about nine o'clock morning of Tuesday, which fact was not known here until the evening morning, as owing to a gale blow that day, no one went down to her. It was generally thought no difficulty was experienced in safely floating, but being entirely in the hands of the crew, such a calamity shown, the time she broke up comparatively had been done to her, although days had elapsed since she struck, & halves still remain on the rocks, & they held together by the keel. The cargo, the engine, & all movable gear are salvaged and brought here, but we still are not yet decided what will be done with the hull. The S.S. Com. Maru, belonging to the Nippon Company, was sent her with the object of assisting in here off and towing her to harbour, other of which purposes were her required. — Rising Sun, Jan. 1.

following is the finding of the Court, held at Shanghai on the 16th instant, to inquire into the circumstances attending the destruction of the steamer Bombay :—

That the S. S. Bombay left Shanghai on the 23rd December last; on the 24th December she took in remainder of cargo at Woosung and set night out at 11 p.m. or thereabouts a fire broke out on the upper deck among some boxes of cotton. The alarm was given and water poured on the fire. A steam pump was worked by the crew but ineffectually. In about 25 minutes the fire had gained complete possession of the vessel, having spread from the deck to the saloon through the hatchways and along both the main and upper decks. Passengers and crew were ordered to the P. & O. steamers Atirapora and the S. S. H. O. Orsted. The remainder has been since missing.

The Court is of opinion that there is nothing to show conclusively where the fire originated.

That the means at hand were cargo in the China Seas is dangerous, and that risks on it should not be accepted by insurance offices.

—That the Master is guilty of indiscretion in attempting to take up his case in an unworthy conduct; the Court therefore condemns the Master William Goggins, and he is to be censured accordingly.

That in view of the heavy private loss which the Master has sustained; no fine or punishment should be inflicted on him is herein provided, and that certificates may be renewed.

—The Court decrees that the said Master William Goggins shall pay the costs of the proceedings.

Witness under our hands at Shanghai
this January, 1881.

W. R. CARLES,
Acting Vice-Consul, President.
